What the Country Needs

More and more we are convinced that what this country most needs is a religion of training that will make a man pay his debts. Shouting does not settle accounts with God or man. Often we want to bounce a fellow right out of the church because he went lord hunting on Sunday, but never say a word to the pious scamp who never pays his debts, and such people are doing the church more harm than any lot of Sunday desecrators, for there are more of them in the church. Reader, are we getting close to you? Then lay down this paper and go and pay up and you can read on at ease. And don't you stop paying because the 'statute of limitations' excuses the open account which you made for bread and meat. You must pay it in cash or God will make you pay it in fire and torment. God knows no such excuse as homestead exemption. When you raise your taxes to keep from paying your debts you can stop singing. When I can read my little treat to mansions in the skies You've got none up there.

Home Industries

Patronize home where your interests are and help maintain and support these interests—your interests. Get that selfishness out of your heart that is envious of every success that wants to pull down every interest that seems to reach beyond yours, and is in reality an advantage to it and the community. Neither imagine when a few shekels accumulate in your wallet you must necessarily go out at town to spend them, thinking it would never do to distribute a little cash to your home merchant, since you can stand them off for six months or a year. Mistaken idea. They'll appreciate the cash and give you just as good bargains as any merchant in any town or city that may get your cash. Encourage home dealers and manufacturers in everything, not only by your patronage but by words of encouragement and commendation. This is the way to build up a town and make business lively; and be sure you patronize your home paper when you see it stands by your interests, lauds every legitimate enterprise, and waits to the world doing, transacting, picturing advantages, holding out inducements, and in a thousand ways building up your interests. Business Man Praises Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy

Successful Merchant After Investigation Found a Remedy That Restored His Health.

This is the testimonial of a man of the State of Pennsylvania, and I want to give a part of it to you in writing. I was in the city of Scranton, Pa., and I was in the family physician called Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. I was in the family physician called Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy. not your hearty and liberal support, pray, who does? Don't keep it down then floundering for an existence and gasping for breath. It is a mighty poor tale that won't work both ways. Stand by your town and support all its interests.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has declared the rates charged on freight into New Mexico to be unreasonable and has ordered the railroads to readjust them. This a most important matter to residents of the state and it is hoped that the new rates will be such as to afford the relief desired.

The unmarried man out of work is to be pitied. He has no wife to support him.

Successful farming, like any other business, requires the use of brains as well as muscles which is one reason for many of the failures.

Road Bond Petition

The petition asking that an election be held to vote on the question of the issue of $100,000 road bonds is being circulated throughout the county and practically all the taxpayers are signing it. As soon as a sufficient number of the taxpayers have affixed their names to the petition it will be submitted to the County Commissioners, who will set a date for the election. It is almost certain that the proposition will carry when put to a vote, for everyone in the county recognizes the need that exists for a system of good roads, and the benefits that would accrue to the county by the building and maintenance of such a system.—Headlight.

SEES HIS GLASS EYE; FLEES

Girl Deserts Husband That Was to Have Her at the Altar on Making Discovery. Stimpsons has a missing eye. An error in optometry made that eye. It looks natural to all except the eyes of love. That's the trouble. So many women love Stimpsons. Stimpsons makes $5 a day at the Post plant. Recently he and his wife were divorced, and to maintain his steadily standing he determined to wed her. He picked out a divorcee, a woman on the prison of life, for his bride. But when they went to the altar his fan divided looking long and earnestly into his eyes. "Why, one of them is glass," she shrieked, and fled. Stimpsons never saw her more. He made another woman, and this time picked out a girl eighteen years old. He decided not to give her a choice to see the glass eye before marriage, so he took her to the priest's house at night. The priest, learning he had been divorced, refused to marry the couple. Desperate, Stimpsons got another divorce and took his bride to Justice Reiber, who tied the knot. Stimpsons scowled his second eye, being at one being found out. Desert Toss.

ARTISTS GUARD A PALACE

Members of the Society of London have been especially kind to guard Buckingham Palace. They have their own guardmen in the palace, where they are regarded with but coffee. Recently the "society" have discovered that in a sort of uniform which consists of a long blue suit and a pointed cap. They are also provided with a constable's baton and a police whistle. The number of the grounds of Buckingham Palace amounts to something like four miles. The men include a number of artists, authors, journalists, newspaper editors and other professional men, mostly belonging to the Society class, among whom Bert Keenleyside, the greatest republican, stands out. Keenleyside describes himself as a "blatantly blank constable guarding his king in his blantly blank palace and undisturbed by the destruction of all kings and what they stand for."

GOING BACK FOR COLORS

The very first color has led to the agents in the pipe goods market to rub out their shelves for old supplies. This agent was found colorless about last week, and with supplies and continue. He had gone back to the shelves of every pipe store to see if something could be found to suit the taste of his customers. Among the goods he found were pipes in colors closely resembling the shades that are not popular. There was one shade that might have been described as "brown and red" and a "red and blue" mixture covers were also found. While the colors mentioned in this number can be considered in words, and other light than that of staples, the change they offer is up to prove an attractive one to buyers.—New York Times.

PROOF OF IT.

"Patience was utterly speechless when he proposed to me." "That how did it seem to you?" "She said, 'I wasn't for speaking then!'"

MORE TROUBLE

"Yes, I'm sick." "I told you to get out of here." "I did. But now I've been making some pins and buttons."

AT OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

Patience—I thought the rooms were finished in hard wood. Boarder—No, they are in as hard as glass.

WOULD HELP SOME.

Patience—I really would like to give up something to help humanity. Boarder—Well, why not give up singing?"

SHE WAS A CRITIC.

Patience—What did you think of Peggy's novel? Boarder—Well, I found it open a million.

WHERE IS YOUR GRAIN?

Suppose by hard work you had got together a bushel of very fine, very rare, very costly grain. You wouldn't put it in an old stove—you wouldn't hide it in some out of the way place. Rats, mice or birds might destroy it—insects make it worthless—fire destroy it—servants steal it. You would keep that costly grain in a safe place, so that you could plant it and get a bounteous harvest. Why not use the same care with your hard earned dollars. Keep them in the Columbus State Bank. We watch your dollars for you all the time and you can get them at any time. We are a bank of Personal Service.

Mr. Farmer and Livestock Grower, the Lubbock Sudan Grass Seed Association

Is calling to you to put better food and hay Sudan grass seed. The Lubbock Sudan Grass Seed Association was organized last year and is composed of Lubbock county farmers who are producers of pure Sudan Grass Seed. Every crop handled by this association, was inspected in the field before harvested, by a committee of five men. Mr. V. L. Gray, superintendent of Lubbock subdivision No. 5, a state experiment station, chairman of said committee. All crops found to be produced by impure seeds and weeds were condemned and not handled by this association. Mr. Farmer, do not be misled by the inspection certificate you have seen, be content the seed with the certificate offered. Sudan grass is a big hay producer as a follow crop after harvesting the wheat and oats. It can be planted with good results as to July 1. Pure production will not grow, officially inspected seed. Be particular to choose seed that will produce good and produce satisfactory results. Free booklet on request. "The Story of Sudan Grass."
